DETAILED ACTION

Priority

If applicant desires to claim the benefit of a prior-filed application under 35 U.S.C. 120, a specific reference to the prior-filed application in compliance with 37 CFR 1.78(a) must be included in the first sentence(s) of the specification following the title or in an application data sheet. For benefit claims under 35 U.S.C. 120, 121 or 365(c), the reference must include the relationship (i.e., continuation, divisional, or continuation-in-part) of the applications.

If the instant application is a utility or plant application filed under 35 U.S.C. 111(a) on or after November 29, 2000, the specific reference must be submitted during the pendency of the application and within the later of four months from the actual filing date of the application or sixteen months from the filing date of the prior application. If the application is a utility or plant application which entered the national stage from an international application filed on or after November 29, 2000, after compliance with 35 U.S.C. 371, the specific reference must be submitted during the pendency of the application and within the later of four months from the date on which the national stage commenced under 35 U.S.C. 371(b) or (f) or sixteen months from the filing date of the prior application. See 37 CFR 1.78(a)(2)(ii) and (a)(5)(ii). This time period is not extendable and a failure to submit the reference required by 35 U.S.C. 119(e) and/or 120, where applicable, within this time period is considered a waiver of any benefit of such prior application(s) under 35 U.S.C. 119(e), 120, 121 and 365(c). A benefit claim filed after the required time period may be accepted if it is accompanied by a grantable petition to accept an unintentionally delayed benefit claim under 35 U.S.C. 119(e), 120, 121 and 365(c). The petition must be accompanied by (1) the reference required by 35 U.S.C. 120 or 119(e) and 37 CFR

Art Unit: 1649

1.78(a)(2) or (a)(5) to the prior application (unless previously submitted), (2) a surcharge under 37 CFR 1.17(t), and (3) a statement that the entire delay between the date the claim was due under 37 CFR 1.78(a)(2) or (a)(5) and the date the claim was filed was unintentional. The Director may require additional information where there is a question whether the delay was unintentional. The petition should be addressed to: Mail Stop Petition, Commissioner for Patents, P.O. Box 1450, Alexandria, Virginia 22313-1450.

If the reference to the prior application was previously submitted within the time period set forth in 37 CFR 1.78(a), but not in the first sentence(s) of the specification or an application data sheet (ADS) as required by 37 CFR 1.78(a) (e.g., if the reference was submitted in an oath or declaration or the application transmittal letter), and the information concerning the benefit claim was recognized by the Office as shown by its inclusion on the first filing receipt, the petition under 37 CFR 1.78(a) and the surcharge under 37 CFR 1.17(t) are not required.

Applicant is still required to submit the reference in compliance with 37 CFR 1.78(a) by filing an amendment to the first sentence(s) of the specification or an ADS. See MPEP § 201.11.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 1, the word “modulator” in the claim renders the claim indefinite because the word “modulator” is an indefinite term and neither the claim nor the specification sets forth what physical processes are intended to be encompassed in the scope of the term, thus the metes and bounds of the claim cannot be determined.

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. The claims are directed to treating conditions by administering a therapeutically-effective amount of an antagonist, agonist, or modulator of DEG/ENaC channel proteins, however no such therapeutically effective compounds are known to exist and nor does the specification describe them. Waldmann-R et al., Ann NY Acad Sci, 30(67-76)1999 state that protons are the only known activator (agonist) of

DEG/ENaC channel proteins (ASIC channels), and indicate that activation of these channels contributes to disease states in ischemia and epileptic seizures (page 74); the specification has not taught which agonists would be useful for treating any particular disorder, and nor would agonists be expected to be useful as taught by Waldmann-R et al. Furthermore, Deagle-WR, US Patent Publication 2005/0267009, teach that amiloride is the only known compound that blocks ASICs, however the effect is not potent and not selective as indicated by amiloride's potent blockade of other receptor targets, which precludes its clinical use as an ASIC antagonist (see paragraph 0107).

While it is certainly reasonable to expect that specific antagonists of specific DEG/ENaC channel proteins would some day be found and prove useful in the treatment of disorders such as pain and inflammation, as discussed by Waldmann-R et al., at the bottom of page 74, the instant specification provides no teaching of these yet to be found useful compounds. In Brenner v. Manson, 148 U.S.P.Q. 689 (Sus. Ct, 1966), the court held that:

“The basic quid pro quo contemplated by the Constitution and the Congress for granting a patent monopoly is the benefit derived by the public from an invention with substantial utility”, “[u]nless and until a process is refined and developed to this point-where specific benefit exists in currently available form-there is insufficient justification for permitting an applicant to engross what may prove to be a broad field”, and “a patent is not a hunting license”, “[i]t is not a reward for the search, but compensation for its successful conclusion.”

The instant claims are drawn to a methods of treatment using unknown compounds; thus the specific benefit set forth in the claims does not exist in a currently available form. “Tossing out the mere germ of an idea does not constitute enabling disclosure... [R]easonable detail must be provided in order to enable members of the public to understand and carry out the invention.”

Genentech, Inc. v. Novo Nordisk Inc., 108 F.3d 1361, 1366, 42 U.S.P.Q.2d 1001, 1005 (Fed. Cir. 1997).

Due to the large quantity of experimentation necessary to find compounds that can be used in the claims, the lack of direction/guidance presented in the specification regarding which structural features are required in order to provide activity, the absence of working examples directed to same, the complex nature of the invention, the state of the prior art which indicates that such compounds are not known to exist, and the breadth of the claims which fail to recite any structural limitations, undue experimentation would be required of the skilled artisan to make and use the claimed invention.
